INTRODUCTION

INTRODUCTION

SCHEDULED TRIBES

The term "Scheduled Tribes" first appeared in the Constitution of India. Article 366 (25) defines Scheduled Tribes as "such tribes or tribal communities or parts of or groups within such tribes or tribal communities as are deemed under Article 342 to be Scheduled Tribes for the purposes of this Constitution". Article 342 prescribes the procedure to be followed in the matter of specification of Scheduled Tribes.

Empowered by Clause (1) of Article 342, the President may, with respect to any State or Union Territory, and where it is a State, after consultation with the Governor thereof, notify tribes or tribal communities or parts of these as Scheduled Tribes. This confers on the tribe or part of it a Constitutional status invoking the safeguards provided for in the Constitution, to these communities in their respective States/UTs.

Clause (2) of the Article empowers the Parliament to pass a law to include in or exclude form the list of Scheduled Tribes, any tribe or tribal community or parts of these.

Thus, the first specification of Scheduled Tribes in relation to a particular State/ Union Territory is by a notified order of the President, after consultation with the State Governments concerned. These orders can be modified subsequently only through an Act of Parliament. The above article also provides for listing of Scheduled Tribes State/Union Territory wise and not on an all India basis.

The criteria followed for specification of a community as a Scheduled Tribe are.

a. Indications of primitive traits,

b. Distinctive Culture,

c. Geographical isolation,

d. Shyness of contact with the community at large, and

e. Backwardness.

This criteria is not spelt out in the Constitution but has become well established. It takes into account the definitions in the 1931 Census, the reports of the first Backward Classes Commission (Kalelkar), 1955, the Advisory Committee on Revision of SC/ST lists (Lokur Committee),1965 and the Joint Committee of Parliament on the Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribes Orders (Amendment) Bill, 1967 (Chanda Committee),1969.

In exercise of the powers conferred by Clause (1) of Article 342 of the Constitution of India, the President, after Consultation with the State Governments concerned, had promulgated so far 9 Orders specifying the Scheduled Tribes in relation to the States and Union Territories. Out of these, eight are in operation at present in their original or amended form. One Order, namely the constitution (Goa, Daman & Diu) Scheduled Tribes order 1968 has become defunct on account of the reorganization of Goa, Daman & Diu in 1987. Under the Goa, Daman & Diu Reorganization Act in 1987 (18 of 1987) the list of scheduled Tribes of Goa has been transferred to part XIX of the Schedule to the Constitution (Scheduled Tribes) Order, 1950 and that of Daman & Diu, to part II of the Scheduled to the Constitution (Scheduled Tribes) (Union Territories) Order, 1951.

The list of scheduled tribes of Andhra -Pradesh is available at Table – 1.

SCHEDULED AREAS

The Scheduled Tribes live in contiguous areas unlike other communities. It is, therefore, much simpler to have area approach for development activities and also regulatory provisions to protect their interests.

In order to protect the interests of the Scheduled Tribes with regard to land alienation and other social factors, provisions of "Fifth Schedule" and "Sixth Schedule" have been enshrined in the Constitution.

The Fifth Schedule under Article 244 (1) of the Constitution defines "Scheduled Areas" as such areas as the President may by Order declare to be Scheduled Areas after consultation with the Governor of that State.

The Sixth Schedule under article 244 (2) of the Constitution relates to those areas in the north east, which are declared as "tribal areas", and provides for a District or Regional Autonomous Councils for such areas. These councils have wide ranging legislative, judicial and executive powers.

FIFTH SCHEDULE AREAS:-

The criteria for declaring any area as a "Scheduled Area" under the Fifth Schedule are:

- Preponderance of tribal population,
- Compactness and reasonable size of the area,

- ❖ Available administrative entity such as district, block or taluk, and
- ❖ Economic backwardness of the area as compared to neighbouring areas.

The specification of "Scheduled Areas" in relation to a state is by a notified Order of the President, after consultation with State Government concerned. The same applies for altering, increasing, decreasing, incorporating new areas, or rescinding any Orders relating to "Scheduled Areas".

The following Orders are in operation at present in their original or amended form:-

Sl. No.	Name of Order	Date of Notification	Name of State (s) for which applicable
1.	The Scheduled Areas [Part A States Order, 1950 [C.O.9]	26.1.1950	Andhra Pradesh
2.	The Scheduled Areas [Part B states] Order, 1975 [C.O.26]	7.12.1950	Andhra Pradesh

The list of Scheduled Area is at table no. 17

PURPOSE AND ADVANTAGE OF SCHEDULED AREAS: -

The advantage of Scheduled Area is that:

a) The Governor of a State which has Scheduled Areas is empowered to make regulations in respect of the following:

1. Prohibit or restrict transfer of land from tribals;
2. Regulate the business of money lending to the members of Scheduled Tribes

In making any such regulation, the Governor may repeal or amend any Act of Parliament to or of the Legislature of the State, which is applicable to the area in question.

b) The Governor may by public notification direct that any particular Act of Parliament or of the Legislature of the State shall not apply to a Scheduled Area or any part thereof in the State or shall apply to such area subject to such exceptions and modifications as he may specify.

c) The Governor of a State having Scheduled Areas therein, shall annually, or whenever so required by the President of India, make a report to the President regarding the administration of the Scheduled Areas in that State and the executive power of the Union shall extend to the giving of directions to the State as to the administration of the said area.

d) Tribes Advisory Council [TAC] shall be established in States having Scheduled Areas. The TAC may also be established in any State having Scheduled Tribes but not scheduled Areas on the direction of the President of India. The TAC consists of not more than twenty members of whom, as nearly as may be, three fourth are from the representatives of Scheduled Tribes in the Legislative Assembly of the State. The role of TAC is to advice the State Government on matters pertaining to the welfare and advancement of the Scheduled Tribes in the State as may be referred to it by the Governor.

e) The Panchayats (Extension to Scheduled Areas) Act, 1996, which the provisions of Panchayats, contained in Part IX of the Constitution, were extended to Scheduled Areas, also contains special provisions for the benefit of Scheduled Tribes.

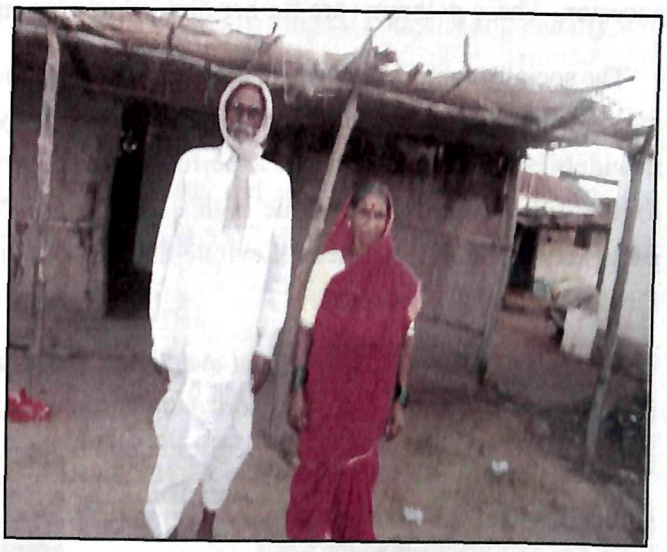
SCHEDULED AREAS AND SCHEDULED TRIBES COMMISSION

To give a further thrust to the welfare and development of the Scheduled Tribes, a Scheduled Areas and Scheduled Tribes Commission has been set up vide order dated 18th July 2002 under the Chairmanship of Shri Dileep Singh Bhuria, Ex. MP with ten other members. The last such Commission was set up in 1960. The Commission shall examine the development strategies followed so far for the welfare and development of the Scheduled Tribes, and suggest an outline of a viable comprehensive tribal policy.

BRIEF ETHNOGRAPHIC PROFILE OF TRIBES OF A.P.

BRIEF ETHNOGRAPHIC PROFILE OF TRIBES OF A.P.

1. ANDH



In Andhra Pradesh, Andhs are living in the hilly tracts of Adilabad district. Their population according to 2001 census is 9735. The total literacy rate among Andhs is 40.48 as per 2001 Census.

The Andh is divided into two endogamous groups viz., Vartali and Khaltali. The people belonging to Vartali section are considered superior to Khaltali section and as such they do not inter-marry. Andh tribe is further divided into a number of exogamous septs or surnames (Intiperlu) known as Adman. Each Adman is an exogamous unit. The marriage by negotiations is common among Andhs but marriage by intrusion is also prevalent. Widow remarriages are permitted among Andhs. But the Widow is not permitted to marry her deceased husbands brother or any member of his sept. Divorce is permissible. They speak Marati as their mother tongue. Andhs do not consume beef.

They mainly subsist on agriculture followed by agricultural labour. They partly subsist on collection of forest produce and fishing.

2. BAGATA

Bagata is one of the numerically preponderant and ethnically significant tribes of Andhra Pradesh and distributed predominantly in the Scheduled areas of Visakhapatnam district. Majority of the former Muttadars and traditional village headmen in the tribal areas of Visakhapatnam district belong to this tribe. They occupy highest rung in the local social hierarchical ladder. It is a Telugu speaking community with a population of 1, 33,434 as per 2001 census constituting 2.7% to the total tribal population of the state. Literates constitute 40.80% among Bagatas. The percentage of female literacy is low with 26.76% when compared to male literacy rate, which is 54.72% among Bagatas as per 2001 Census.

They prohibit eating of beef and pork. Bagata tribe is divided into a number of unilateral agnatic kingroups called "Gothrams" or "Vamsams" such as Korra (Sun), Killo or Bagh (Tiger), Gollari (Monkey), Pangi (Kite) etc., and the members of each gothram presume that they have descended from a common ancestor. These gothrams are further divided into a number of surnames (Intiperlu).

The socially approved modes of acquiring mates include marriage by negotiation, marriage by capture, marriage by mutual love and elopement and marriage by service. Out of these, marriage by negotiation is widely practised and marriage is performed in the groom's house. The custom of paying bride price to the bride's parents is in vogue in this community. Monogamy is common form of marriage while polygamy is rarely practised. Levirate and sororate are in vogue. Widow remarriage is permitted. Divorce is socially accepted.

Nuclear families are predominant over joint families among Bagatas. They are patriarchal, patrilineal and patrilocal. In the absence of son, daughter inherits the property of father.

They perform various life cycle ceremonies from birth to death. The purificatory ceremony is performed on the fifth or seventh day after delivery. Until this ceremony is performed, the woman is not allowed to go to any other house as she is considered to be unclean. On the day the mother takes bath. The naming ceremony for the child is celebrated in the presence of the local priest and relatives and it is followed by a non-vegetarian feast. On attaining puberty, the girl is kept secluded for six days in a corner of a house and on the seventh day the purificatory ceremony is performed for which friends and relatives are invited. The dead is cremated. First and final obsequies are performed on the third day and tenth day respectively.

Agriculture is the main stay of their livelihood while agriculture labour and collection of Non Timber Forest Produce (NTFP) are subsidiary occupations.

Bagatas worship plethora of gods and goddesses such as Sanku Devatha (village deity), Jakara Devata (goddess of rain and crops), Bali Devatha (goddess of group of villages or Muttas), Durga, Nandi devatha etc., and attribute all the events in their daily life to the kindness or wrath of the deities. They celebrate the festivals along with other local tribal communities. Some festivals are celebrated before consuming produce like Korra Kotha Panduga, Kandi Kotha Panduga, Sama Kotha Panduga, Mamidi Kotha Panduga, etc.

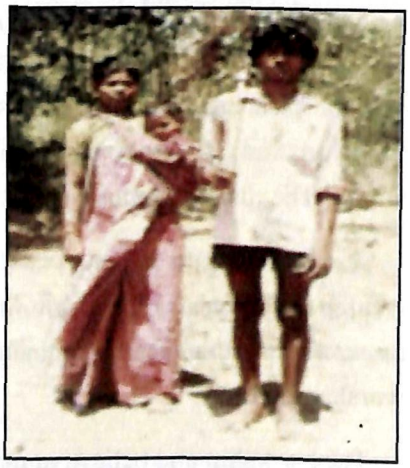
There are traditional councils at village level and they are headed by a representative called "Peddamanishi". Most of the internal disputes are settled by these traditional councils and penalty will be imposed on the culprits.

3. BHIL

Bhils are recognized as scheduled Tribe in Andhra Pradesh and as per 2001 census reports; the population of Bhils is 421. The total literacy rate among Bhil is 55.78 % as per 2001 census.

4. CHENCHU



The Nallamalai Hills spread over in the districts of Kurnool, Prakasham, Guntur, Mahaboobnagar and Nalgonda constitute the traditional habitat of Chenchus, the food gathering and hunting tribe of Andhra Pradesh. They are also found in a few villages of Ranga Reddy district.

The population of Chenchus is 49,232 as per 2001 census. The total literacy rate among them is 32.28 out of which male literacy rate is 40.87 and female is 23.45 as per 2001 census. Their mother tongue is Telugu.

The chenchu tribe is divided into a number of exogamous clans which are prefixed to their names. Some of the clans found among Chenchus are 'Mandli', 'Chigurla', 'Udathala', 'Tokala', 'Mekala', 'Bhumani', Katraju, Arthi, Dasari etc.

Family is nuclear. A very few joint families are also found. Chenchu tribe is patriarchal and patrilineal. Monogamy is the most prevalent form of marriage. Polygyny is also practised but it is rare. Marriage by negotiation, by elopement and by mutual consent are found to be methods of acquiring mates. Cross-cousin marriages are the most preferred. Marriage by service and by exchange are also practised. Levirate or marrying one's own elder brother's widow seems to have been practised in the past but now-a days it is on the wane. In addition to the payment of bride price, the groom or his parents have to bear the expenditure for the marriage.

Divorce is socially permitted on reasons such as sexual incompetency of the man or his drunkenness or ill treatment by him or illegal sexual intimacy with another person or bareness of the woman or mutual distrust due to marital infidelity.

They collect varieties of roots, tubers, wild fruits, edible leaves etc., and consume them. They are non-vegetarians but abstain from eating beef. The traditional house of a chenchu is a small conical or oblong hut with wattle walls and thatched roof.

Goats, sheep, buffaloes and cows are the domestic animals and there may be plough bullocks with cultivating families.

Chenchus are adept in honey collection from honey combs perched on the mountain cliffs and caves. It is significant to note that in this arduous task of honey collection, the chenchus choose only brothers-in-law and not own brothers in view of the existence of levirate system of marriage. They also collect minor forest produce items like gum, tamarind, myrobalans, nuxvomica, honey wax, mohwa flowers, chironji, soap nuts, broom-sticks etc., and sell them to Girijan Co-operative Corporation.

The measures of social control are practiced among chenchus through a council of elders of the village and is headed by a man called 'Peddamanishi'. Chenchus generally state that Peddamanishi is always succeeded in office by his eldest son but they also admit that this rule is by no means always followed and that any sensible man may become Peddamanishi even if there is a son to the deceased holder. The disputes among Chenchus are generally settled by the traditional council.

A newborn child is named on the fourth day and the tonsure ceremony is performed when the child is three or four years old. A ceremony is performed when a girl attains puberty. Death pollution lasts for three to fifteen days and is terminated by performing the Peddadivasam ceremony. They observe ancestor worship annually.

They worship and believe in many deities and spirits both malevolent and benevolent and follow all Hindu festivals. Their religious pantheon include Mysamma, Rakta Veradu, Onti Veeradu, Peddamma, Lingamaiah, Mallanna, Narasimhaswamy, Pothuraju, Nagamaiah Sunkulamma, Manthanalamma, Ankalamma etc.

The chenchu tribe is declared as Primitive Tribal Group (PTG) in 1975. A separate ITDA is functioning at Srisailam for the overall development of Chenchus. This agency is implementing various development schemes in the fields of Agriculture, irrigation, Education, Health, Nutrition, Horticulture, supply of Drinking water, laying of roads etc.

5. GADABA

Gadabas are predominantly found in tribal areas of Srikakulam, Vizianagaram and Visakhapatnam districts. Their population according to 2001 census reports is 36078. Gadabas speak their own dialect. The total literacy rate among Gadabas is 36.63. The Gadaba tribe is divided into different sub divisions viz, Bodo or Gutob, Katheri, Kolloyi etc., Each sub division which is endogamous is divided into various exogamous clans. The modes of acquiring mates among Gadabas are marriage by negotiation, by mutual love and elopement, by capture and by service. Family is nuclear. Widow re-marriage and divorce are permitted.

At present Gadabas are cultivators and agricultural labourers. Those who inhabit the hilly areas practice shifting cultivation and they cultivate Ragi, Red gram, Niger in their Podu lands. They collect Non-Timber Forest Produce for household consumption and sale.

They worship Sankudevudu, Peddadevudu, Modakondamma, Jakaridevatha, Ippapolamma etc., and they celebrate festivals like, Eetelapanduga, Ashadapanduga (Korrakotha), Kothamasa and Maridamma Panduga. In addition to the above festivals, they worship the spirits of their ancestors.

Gadabas have their own traditional council headed by a traditional village headman known as "Naiko". His office is hereditory. He is assisted by 'Challan', (messenger) and 'Barika' (Village servant). In the fields of religious activities, 'Desari' or "Pujari" officiates all the religious ceremonies. Gadabas are recognized as Primitive Tribal Group in A.P.

6. GOND, NAIKPOD

Gonds are one of the numerically dominant tribal groups in India. They are found in larger areas of Central India known after them as Gondwana. Important sub divisions among Gonds are Muria Gond, Maria Gond (found in Madhya Pradesh), Raj Gonds and Durve Gonds (found in Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh and sparsely in Orissa). All these sub divisions call themselves as Koitur in their dialect. In Andhra Pradesh, Naikpod is mentioned along with Raj Gonds in the approved list of Scheduled Tribes. But in tribal areas of Adilabad district, Naikpod is a separate tribe. Population of Gonds including Naikpods in Andhra Pradesh as per 2001 census is 2, 52,038. The total literacy rate among Gond is 36.39 as per 2001 census.

Gond kingdoms were collapsed due to invasion of Mughal and Maratha armies but some of the Gond chiefs retained their status of feudal chief till the attainment of independence of the country from British. In Andhra Pradesh, the ruined forts of Gond chiefs are found at Utnoor in Adilabad District. They speak "Gondi" dialect.

The patrilineal Gond society is divided into the following four exogamous phratries (Saga) whose origin is attributed to their legendary hero "Pahandi Kupar Lingal".

1. Nalwen Saga (Four divine brother group)
2. Seewen Saga (Five divine brother group)
3. Sarwen Saga (Six divine brother group)
4. Edwen Saga (Seven divine brother group)

Each phratry is associated with totemic animals/ objects and is divided into several exogamous clans (Padi) and these clan names are prefixed to individual names. Clan is again sub divided into Khandans, which consist of different lineages (Kita). The lineages are identified with original place of habitation and prominent ruler or chief of the people. Main functions of these clans and their sub divisions are regulation of matrimonial relations, maintenance of supreme deity (persapen) and other household deities.

Monogamy is the general rule among Gonds but some rich people may marry more than one woman. Pre-marital and extra – marital relations are prohibited. Marriage within the phratry is a taboo. Cross-cousin marriages are encouraged but marriage with one's own sister's daughter is prohibited. The socially accepted ways of acquiring mates among Gonds are (1) marriage by negotiation, (2) Marriage by Service, (3) Marriage by capture, (4) Marriage by intrusion, (5) Marriage by mutual love and elopement and (6) Marriage by exchange. The basic rule of the patron-client relationship of Gonds and Pardhans is that both of them should belong to the same phratry and same clan. The four phratries in Pardhan tribe are Satha Devi (Seven deity group), Saha Devi (Six deity group) Pacha Devi (Five deity group) and Chow Devi (Four deity group). Each phratry is further divided into exogamous clans similar to Gonds.

Monogamy is highly preferred among Pardhans though polygamy is in vogue. They follow the following six types of acquiring mates i.e. marriage by negotiation (Khaja Khobra), marriage by capture (Darun Taktna), marriage by service (Gharjavae Lagan), marriage by intrusion (Seewar Java), marriage by love and elopement (Darun parala or Darun parali) and marriage by exchange (Seelad choding). Widow remarriage is called 'pat' and the widow is to marry younger brother of her deceased husband. If there is no younger brother, she has to marry a man from the same clan of her deceased husband.

Divorce is common among Pardhans and is permitted by the village council 'panch'

Inheritance of property is in male line only. If a man dies without male children, his property goes to the nearest kinsman in male line i.e., brothers or brother's son.

Cross-cousin marriages are customarily celebrated.

The economic conditions of Pardhans were linked with those of their Gond patrons in the past. These economic ties are gradually being disrupted in modern times and they are also becoming settled cultivators as Gonds. They grow Cotton, Jowar Red gram, Green gram etc. and developing sericulture also. Their staple food is Jowar and they are beef-eaters.

The village level unit of social control among Pardhans is called 'Panch'. It consists of 'Patel', 'Mahajan', 'Devar' (priest), 'Hawaldar' (messenger), and 'Karbari' (record keeper) as its members. The post of Patel and Mahajan are hereditary.

25. PORJA

Porjas are found predominantly in the tribal areas of Visakhapatnam district of Andhra Pradesh.

Their population as per 2001 census is 32,669 among whom males are 16,132 and females are 16,537. The total literacy rate among Porja is 26.55 according to 2001 census. They are recognized as Primitive Tribal Group. They have their own dialect. In addition to their own dialect, they speak Telugu as well as Adivasi Oriya.

Porja tribe is divided into following endogamous sub-divisions or sub-groups.

1) Parangi Porja 2) Jhodia Porja 3) Gadaba Porja 4) Banang Porja
5) Pangu Porja 6) Kolloi Porja 7) Didoi Porja.

Each endogamous sub-group is further divided into the following totemic clans which are popularly known as 'bowsu' in local parlance.

1) Killo (tiger) 2) Kimudu (Bear)
3) Korra (millet) 4) Rambi (bird)
5) Pangi (kite) 6) Ontala (snake)
7) Gollori (monkey)

Clan names are pre-fixed to the individual names. The woman gets the clan name of the husband after marriage.

The Porja family is generally nuclear. These people are patrilineal, patriarchal and patrilocal. Cross-cousin marriages are permissible among them. They marry after attaining adulthood.

Monogamy is prevalent. Polygyny is rare. Divorce is permissible among them. Widow re-marriages are socially accepted. Marriage by negotiation, marriage by elopement, marriage by capture and marriage by service are socially accepted ways of acquiring mates, but negotiation is held as the most prestigious and is common. The marriage ceremony takes place at groom's house and is always accompanied by a feast and a dance. As soon as the marriage is over, the son separates himself from the family of origin and sets up his family of procreation.

Porjas worship "Bododevatha", "Sankudevatha" or "Nishanidevatha", "Jakara devatha", "Nandi devatha" etc., in addition to the spirits of their ancestors, on every festive occasion, the ancestor worship is paramount in Porja religious life and they offer sacred food and fowls are sacrified to the spirits of ancestors. They celebrate festivals like "Giliab Parbu (hunting festival)", "Poduja" (sowing festival)", "Gotnakiya (ploughing festival)", "Amflishuva (new mango eating festival"), "Bandaponpuras, Nandi Purab", "Volpoda", "Bali devatha panduga" etc.

Porjas perform a folk dance called jhodia nat or Nandinat at the time of Nandi devatha festival. It is also known as Jillinat because the songs which are sung during this dance performance are full of expressions of love and romance. Jilli in Porja dialect means love and romance. The entire movements of dance resemble the movements of Dimsa dance but swift movements which are found in Dimsa are not found in Jhodia nat.

There is a headman for each group in a village and a leader called 'Naidu' for each village the offices of which are hereditary and these office bearers bear the responsibility of maintaining social order within the community.

The inter-village disputes and disputes among the community people are settled by their traditional village council.

Most of the Porjas who are living in the interior places are largely subsisting on podu cultivation and collection of minor forest produce. They practice podu cultivation on hill slopes and use primitive implements like hoe cum digging stick, hand axe and sickle. They also practice plough cultivation on flat fields and irrigated terraces. The landless section of them work as agricultural labourers.

The Porjas are non-vegetarians and consume beef and pork.

The dead are either cremated or buried, according to convenience. The pollution caused by death is observed for ten days and ancestor worship is observed.

26. REDDI DORA

The Mukhadoras of Visakhapatnam district are known as Reddidoras. Their number according to 2001 census reports is 1721. The total literacy rate among Reddidora is 17.32.

The Mukhadoras, who are also known as Nookadoras, are mostly found in Visakhapatnam and Srikakulam districts. They are endogamous and have exogamous clans, which serve as regulatory forces in their matrimonial alliances. They speak Telugu. They are mainly agriculturists and podu cultivators. They supplement their economy by the collection and sale of minor forest produce.

27. RONA

They are also known as Rena and Rana, which mean "battle". They are found living in the agency areas of Visakhapatnam and Vizianagaram districts of Andhra Pradesh. According to 2001 census, their population is 200 and the literacy rate is 25.88. Their mother tongue is "Oriya".

Cross-cousin marriages are common and levirate and sororate are allowed in the community. Elopement and negotiation are the modes of acquiring spouses. Bride price is paid in kind. Remarriage is allowed for widow and divorcee. Nuclear families are common. They follow the rule of patrilineal decent and patrilocal residence. Divorce is permissible.

Main occupation of Rona is settled agriculture. They work as wage labourers. Their traditional community council is headed by a 'Naidu'. They worship village gods like "Peddadevudu", "Nandidevudu", "Gangadevudu", "Jatradevudu" ancestral spirits. They celebrate the festivals of Itukala Panduga, Korra Kotha, and Jodla Panduga besides Hindu festivals like Sivarathri, Ugadi and Diwali.

28. SAVARA

Savara, a scheduled tribe is found inhabiting the eastern ghats of Srikakulam and Vizianagaram district. The Savara population in Andhra Pradesh is 1, 22,979 as per 2001 census. The total literacy rate among Savara according to 2001 census is 34.50.

The Savaras usually live in exclusive settlements of their own. They build their settlements on hill slopes and near hill streams to facilitate easy access to podu and terrace fields, and for fetching water. Savaras speak Savara language which belongs to Kol Munda group of Austro- asiatic family of language.

The most significant feature of the social orgnisation of the savaras of Andhra Pradesh is the absence of clan organization.

For all practical social purposes such as marriage, the goup having a common surname is exogamous. Some sections of the Savaras of Seethampeta area, Pathapatnam and Sompet areas have not adopted even family names. In the absence of exogamous family names and clans, they resort to cross cousin marriages as a way to regulate their matrimonial alliances and thus avoid incest. Levirate, sororate and widow remarriages are socially approved. Four methods of acquiring mates viz., marriage by negotiation (Pankui), marriage by elopement (Dingdengboi), marriage by service (Kinersung) and marriage by exchange (Ulaiboi) are socially accepted among Savaras. Most of the Savara families are nuclear. Divorce is permitted on the grounds of impotency, continued quarrels in the family etc.

The Savaras subsist on agriculture. Savara agriculture consists of 'podu' or shifting cultivation and terrace cultivation on hill slopes besides dry and wet farming. The implements are manufactured mostly by using indigenous techniques and locally available materials. Forest labour, collection and sale of Non-Timber Forest Produce and fishing are the important subsidiary occupations.

Similar to most of the primitive societies, group cohesion and intra tribal solidarity is maintained among Savaras through social control institutions decreed by tradition. There are three grades in the traditional leadership in social precedence i.e. the 'Gamang', the 'Buyya' and the 'Parja'. The Gamang is the civil head of the village. The Buyya is the religious head. Savaras consider a Gamang to be rich with lands and other property. 'Desari' another religious functionary of Savaras attends for fixing up of auspicious days for the performance of both social and religious ceremonies. 'Kudan' is also a religious functionary who recites hymns and conducts social and religious ceremonies. The festivals of first eating of crops, propitiation of the deities and ancestral spirits, name giving ceremony are some of the ritual functions at which 'Kudan' recites hymns, conducts the rituals and offers sacrifices. He chants hymns while playing on a musical instrument called 'Kudansingrai', or 'Kudanboi'.

Savaras propitiate various deities and ancestral spirits. The Gods and spirit beings of Savaras can be classified into benign and malign. The benevolent gods are those of earth, hill, pot, sun, rain, wind, stream etc. The malignant deities are associated with tiger, small pox, bloodsuckers and sorcerer. There are as many malignant spirits as there are diseases known to the Savaras.

The Savaras draw certain designs on the walls known as 'Edising'. It is also known as 'Lingor'. These designs are drawn in honuor of the dead, to avert diseases to promote and on the occasion of certain festivals. These 'Edising' designs are common among Savaras inhabiting interior hilly tracts. These drawings depict the moon, the sun, animals and all the objects, which come across in their daily life.

29. LAMBADA

The Lambadas are a scheduled tribe inhabiting throughout Andhra Pradesh. They are also known as "Sugalis" or "Banjara". Their population according to 2001 census is 20, 77,947. The total literacy rate among Lambada is 34.33 as per 2001 census.

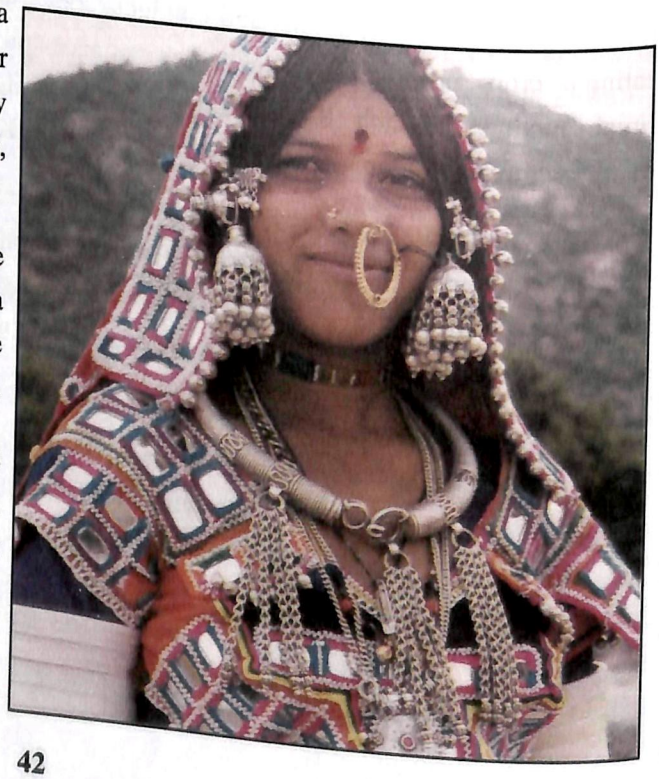
The Lambadas are the largest tribe in Andhra Pradesh. Lambadas live in exclusive settlements of their own called 'Tandas', usually away from the main village, tenaciously maintaining their cultural and ethnic identity.

The traditional dress of the men comprises of dhoti, upper garment and bright coloured turbans. The womenfolk wear 'langa' of coarse cotton prints, richly embroidered with several fold at the waists.

Lambada tribe is divided into five phratries viz.,

1. Bhukya (Rathod)
2. Vadthiya (Jadhav)
3. Chowhan
4. Pamar
5. Banoth (Ade)

These phratries are further divided into a number of patrilineal kin groups called 'Pada' or 'Jath' (Clan) in their dialect. Bhukya Phratry consists of 27 clans, Vadthiya 52, Chowhan 6, Pamar 12 and Banoth 13.



Each phratry is an exogamous unit, and one has to marry outside his phratry. Clan is a patrilineal kin group. The girl adopts the name of the clan of her husband as soon as she marries.

Traditionally joint family was playing a dominant role in choosing the mates, determining the residence, controlling the property, watching the morals and managing the affairs of the youngsters. The joint family was the norm in the early days among Lambadas but now it is breaking down gradually into nuclear families. Marriage by negotiations is the only accepted way of performing marriages and sometimes marriage by service is also practised. The married women wear ivory bangles or imitation of them above their elbows, which are referred as 'Balia'.

There are traditional musicians and bards to Lambadas called 'Dappans' depend mainly on the gift presented by Lambadas on various occasions and also work as manual labourers. There are three divisions among Dappans viz: 1. Bhat, 2. Dhandi, 3. Dhalia.

Bhats and Dhadis sing songs on family history by playing musical instruments called "Jange" and "Kinjri" during marriage ceremonies. Dhalia or Dapdiya plays dappu. There are traditional barbers to Lambadas called 'Navi'. There is another endogamous sub-division called Sonar Lambadas who manufacture silver and gold ornaments. All these groups are endogamous sub-division of main Lambada Tribe. These groups also adopted the Clan orgnanization of main Lambada community. But inter-group marriages are strictly prohibited. All these sub-divisions are considered inferior in social status to main group.

The Lambadas believe that the world is protected by a multitude of spirits Viz. benign and malign. Hence the malignant spirits are periodically appeased through sacrifice and supplication. The Lambadas also worship and pay reverence to the benevolent Gods such as Vishnu, Rama, Venkateswara and Seva Bhaya. Meraima is believed to protect their females and children and preserve the fertility of their lands and females while Seva Bhaya and Seetala are regarded as the protectors of the cattle. They also celebrate the Hindu festivals like "Ugadi", "Rakhi", "Naga Panchami", "Dasara", "Deepavali", "Sankranthi", "Sivaratri" and "Holi". The important traditional festivals are "Teej", "Seetala" and "Tulja Bhavani" and they regularly celebrate them. The dead are cremated in separate cremation grounds.

Lambadas have their own traditional council for each Tanda for the disposal of disputes originating form economic and social causes. This council consists of one headman (Nayak), one advisor (Karbari) and one messenger (Dappan). All the offices of the council are hereditary. They call traditional council as 'Naiker Ghar'.

Lambadas are expert cattle breeders and largely subsist by sale of milk and milk products. They settled on land and became good agriculturists. Lambadas are giving up their nomadic habits and permanently settling on land. The landless families are migrating to towns and cities and eking out their livelihood by driving auto rickshaws and by rickshaw pulling. They are also engaged as labourers on daily wages in construction work of buildings, roads etc.

30. THOTI

Thotis are living in the districts of Adilabad, Karimnagar and Nizamabad in Andhra Pradesh. According to 2001 census their population is 2,074 and their literacy rate is 55.14.

Thotis are recognized as Primitive Tribal Group Thoti tribe is divided into four exogamous phratries just as saga of Gonds. All the phratries or sagas are sub- divided into exogamous clans; Among Thotis clan name precedes the personal name and is treated as surname. Every clan is strictly exogamous. Monogamy is generally practiced by Thotis. Widow marriages are permissible.

The mother tongue of Thotis is Gondi. Gonds call the Thotis as 'Birdal' (receiver) and latter call the former as 'Dhani' (Donar). The traditional occupation of Thotis is acting as bards to their Gond patrons and women practice tattooing, but presently majority of Thotis are earning their livelihood through agriculture and casual labourers.

The political organization at the village level among Thoti tribe is known as 'Panch'. It consists of 'Patla', 'Mahajan', 'Devari', 'Ghattiyal' and 'Havaldar'.

31. VALMIKI (in the Agency tracts)

Valmikis living in the Agency tracts of Andhra Pradesh are only notified as Scheduled Tribes. They are found in the agency areas of Visakhapatnam and East Godavari districts. They claim that they are descendants of the famous sage Valmiki, the author of Ramayana. According to 2001 Census, their population is 66,814. The total literacy rate among Valmiki is 58.22 as per 2001 census.

The Valmiki tribe is divided into various 'gotrams' in order to regulate the marriage institution in Visakhapatnam tribal area. The gothrams are "Nagabowse (snake)", "Matsyabowse"(fish), "Pangibowse"(kite), "Jillabowse"(tiger), "Vantala bowse"(monkey), "Korrabowse" (sun), "Bhallubowse"(bear), "Poolubowse" (flower) and "Chillibowse" (goat). But these clan names are absent in tribal areas of East Godavari district.

Marriage by mutual consent, marriage by elopement, are the methods of acquiring mates. Widow remarriages and divorce are permissible.

Valmikis are agriculturists and forest labourers. Some of them became traders and petty moneylenders. They sell the earthen pots also in the shandies. They practice podu cultivation on the slopes of hills.

32. YANADI

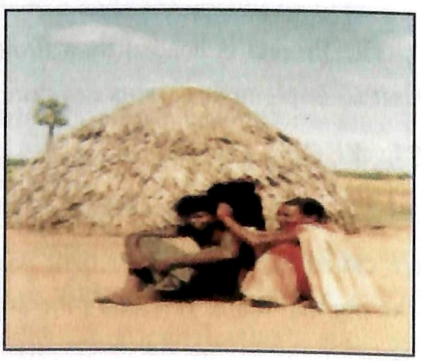
Yanadis are one of the major scheduled tribes of Andhra Pradesh. Thurston (1909) noted that the people were natives of Sriharikota Island and suggested that they derived their name from the Sanskrit word "anadi" denoting those whose origin is unknown. Now they are predominantly spread over the districts of Nellore, Chittoor Guntur, Krishna, Kadapa and Prakasham. Yanadis live in symbiosis with non-tribals.

Their population according to 2001 census reports is 4, 62,167 in Andhra Pradesh. The total literacy rate among Yanadi is 35.35 as per 2001 census. Their mother tongue is Telugu.

Yanadis are broadly divided into four endogamous groups on the basis of occupations and dietary habits. The sub divisions are:

1. Manchi Yanadi or Reddi Yanadi (Cultivators and servants)
2. Adavi Yanadi (those living in forests)
3. Paki Yanadi (Scavengers) and
4. Chella Yanadi (those who collect left out food from leaf plates in the dust bins).

The Chella Yanadis and Paki Yanadis are considered to be unclean and low among Yanadis. Each division of the Yanadi is further divided into a number of patrilineal exogamous groups representing their lineage names (intiperlu).



Marriage by negotiation, by mutual love and elopement are usual modes of acquiring mates. The re-marriage of divorcees, widows and widowers is permitted. The nuclear type of family is more predominant.

They propitiate some village deities like "Poleramma," "Chenchamma", "Mahalakshmamma" etc. In addition to these, they worship Hindu Gods and Goddesses like "Venkateswara", "Vinayaka" and "Rama". They celebrate Hindu festivals such as "Sankranthi", "Ugadi", "Dasara" etc., and worship their deities.

Each Yanadi habitat invariably consists of traditional village council (Kula Panchayat) for settling the disputes like adultery, theft, land disputes etc. The hold of traditional council is still stronger. Generally, the culprits are admonished by way of imposing simple fines followed by feast.

Yanadis are non-vegetarians and eat the meat of rabbit, fowl, goat, sheep fish etc, but abstain from eating beef. Yanadis mainly subsist on agricultural labour. They are traditionally inland fishermen and are also engaged as watchmen in the fields and orchards of farmers. Collection of firewood, rickshawpulling, rodents catching etc., constitutes secondary occupation of the Yanadis.

With a view to settle these poverty-stricken Yanadis, land colonization schemes were started during the British period and continued after the Post Independence period for the rehabilitation of Yanadis. The State Government has also introduced land assignment schemes to provide land for cultivation to the landless Yanadis. Besides, the development schemes under the sectors like education housing, women and child development, medical, health and nutrition, roads etc are also under implementation for the benefit of the Yanadis.

The expected results could not be achieved despite all the above developmental efforts for the Yanadis. Therefore, a decision has been taken by the Hon'ble Chief Minister of Andhra Pradesh on 09-09-1997 to establish a separate ITDA for Yanadis inhabiting Nellore, Chittoor and Prakasham districts.

A Yanadi Development plan has been prepared for the development of Yanadis inhabiting 3722 villages in 166 mandals on Nellore, Chittoor and Prakasham districts.

The Government vide G.O.Ms.No. 136, Social Welfare (TW.Bud.2) Department dated 19-12-2001 issued orders for establishing ITDA for Yanadis. The headquarters of ITDA is located at Nellore town in Nellore district.

The Project is headed by a Project Officer assisted by Development Officer and other supporting staff to implement various developmental programmes.

33. YERUKALA

Yerukala is scheduled tribe found throughout Andhra Pradesh. They call themselves 'Kurru'. They are called 'Yerukula' after their women's traditional profession of fortune telling ((Eruka chepputa). The population of Yerukala tribe according to 2001 census is 4, 37,459 and their literacy rate is 45.36.

The Yerukala tribe has a dialect of its own which is called 'Yerukula basha' or 'Kurru basha' or 'Kulavatha'. It is derived from Dravidian languages, mostly Telugu, Tamil and Kannada.

The Yerukala tribe is divided into a number of functional and endogamous sub-divisions and each such sub-division is named after the commodity, which they traded in and the occupation they adopted. The sub-divisions are "Dabba Yerukala" (those who make baskets from split bamboo), "Yeethapullala Yerukula" (those who make baskets from wild date leaves), "Kunchapuri Yerukala" (those who make weaver's combs), "Parikamuggula Yerukala" (sooth sayers and beggars), "Karivepaku Yerukala" (curry leaf sellers), "Uppu Yerukala" (salt hawkers).

Each sub-division is dividend into four phraties viz., "Sathupadi", "Kavadi", "Manupati" and "Mendraguthi". The first two phratiries Viz, "Sathupadi" and "Kavadi" are considered to be superior to the other two. Each phratry is further sub-divided into a number of exogamous intiperlu (surnames). Some of the intiperlu are "Kumbha", "Mogili", "Katta", "Devara", "Sreerama", "Palaparthi", "Meda" etc, Endogamy at community level and exogamy at phratry and intiperlu level are observed.

The type of family among Yerukala tribe is usually nuclear. Descent is patrilineal, residence is patrilocal and authority is patriarchal, Cross-cousin (menarikam) marriages are preferred. Marriages between the maternal uncle and niece are also permitted. Monogamy is the common form of marriage, but polygyny is also socially permitted. Marriage through negotiation and exchange are the common modes of acquiring mates. Traditionally, the married women used to wear a bead necklace as the symbol of marriage. But now 'thali bottu' or 'mangal sutram', the marriage pendent is being worn as a marriage symbol by most of the women. Divorce is permissible on grounds of adultery, barrenness and incompatibility between the spouses. Widows are permitted to re-marry.

Yerukalas worship Hindu benevolent Gods i.e. "Lord Venteswara", "Narasimhaswamy", "Narayanaswamy" and "Rama". The Yerukalas are a spirit haunted and ghost-ridden people and attribute every disease or misfortune to the action of some malevolent spirits and ancestral ghost. The influence of evil spirit is averted by sacrificing goats, pigs, fowls etc. They worship benevolent Gods, which are common Gods in Hindu pantheon and appease malevolent deities such as "Ankamma", "Kollapuramma", "Sunkulamma", "Poleramma" and "Ellamma". The Yerukalas celebrate Hindu festivals such as "Sankranthi", "Sivarathri", "Sreeramanavami", "Dasara", "Ugadi" (Telugu New Year's Day).

The Yerukala tribe has its own social control mechanism at each habitation to ensure proper observance of prescribed codes of conduct. This traditional council (Kula Panchayat) is headed by an elderly man whose office is hereditary traditionally. The traditional council (Kula Panchayat) try and decide the domestic disputes, disputes relating to theft, adultery, loans, property, and land. The characteristic feature of deciding guilt or innocence of an accused among Yerukalas was through trial by ordeal, which was in vogue till recent times such as 1. Dipping of fingers in boiling oil, 2. Picking up the burnt iron crowbar and, 3. Walking bare foot through the fire bed. Apart from solving disputes, the Kulapanchayat is also competent to maintain the solidarity of the community by checking the behaviour of the individuals. If a person commit the breach of incest taboo he is excommunicated and denied all community rights. The defaulter is readmitted into the community after the purificatory ceremony is observed.

Yerukalas are non-vegetarians. Rice is their staple cereal in coastal Andhra Pradesh, while ragi and jowar are the staple cereal in Rayalaseema and Telangana regions. They eat pork.

The traditional occupation of Yerukalas include basket-making, mat weaving, pig rearing, rope-making etc. The Yerukala women are specialized in sooth saying and fortune telling. Some of them also participate in economic activities like basket making, mat weaving etc, and make baskets with wild date leaves.

AREA

INTRODUCTION ON SUB-PLAN, MADA POCKETS, CLUSTERS AND PRIMITIVE TRIBAL GROUPS

TRIBAL SUB-PLAN (TSP)

The fifth five-year plan marked a significant change in the process of tribal development. The plurality of occupations marked variations in the levels of development and varied geo-ethnic milieu of various tribes give rise to plethora of problems, which are not amenable to uniform approach for their development. Therefore, area specific strategy has been evolved basing on the recommendations of expert committee set up by the Ministry of Education and Social Welfare in 1972 under the Chairmanship of Prof. S.C.Dube for the rapid Socio-economic development of tribal people inhabiting the Scheduled areas where more than 60% tribal population are living. The main objectives of tribal sub plan are:

1. Socio economic development of Scheduled Tribes.
2. Protection of tribals against exploitation.

The salient features of TSP are:

1. It falls within the ambit of State Plan meant for the Welfare and Development of tribals. Such a plan is a part of the over all plan of a State and is therefore called a Sub-Plan. The benefits given to the tribals and tribal areas of a State from the TSP are inaddition to what percolates from the overall plan of a State.

2. The Sub-Plan:

   a) Identify the resources for TSP areas
   b) Prepare a broad policy framework for the development and
   c) Define a suitable administrative strategy for its implementation

3. The most significant aspect of this strategy is to ensure a flow of funds for TSP areas atleast in equal proportion to the Scheduled Tribes population of the State.

4. The recent initiative of the Ministry with regard the TSP component of various departments/sectors of the States is to put the TSP fund of the State Plan in a different Demand Head in the budget of the Tribal Development Departments of the State. In Andhra Pradesh State, the tribal sub-plan area covers the Scheduled areas as well as the adjoining non-scheduled villages with 50% of Tribal concentration in the districts of Adilabad, Warangal, Khammam, West Godavari, East Godavari, Visakhapatnam, Vizianagaram, Srikakulam and Mahabubnagar.

MODIFIED AREA DEVELOPMENT APPROACH (MADA) POCKETS AND CLUSTERS:

After removal of area restriction as per the provisions of SC & ST orders (Amendment) Act 1976, the Yerukala, Yanadi and Lambada tribes living in Telangana region became STs. This change necessitated extending developmental activities on large scale to tribals living in plain area.

Three criteria have been laid down for identification of the tribal pockets under Modified Area Development Approach (MADA).

1. A minimum population of 10,000
2. 50% of the population in the pockets should belong to scheduled tribes.
3. The villages in the pockets should be contiguous.

In accordance with the above guidelines, 41 MADA pockets were identified and sanctioned. The working group on development of STs during seventh five-year plan (1985-90) suggested relaxation of present norm of total population of 10,000 population to 5000 of which not less than 50% must be STs and they are called as "Clusters". Accordingly, 17 clusters have been identified.

PRIMITIVE TRIBAL GROUPS:

Various Tribal groups of our country are at different stages of economy starting from food collection stage to settled agriculture. The most disadvantaged groups who are at food gathering, hunting and fishing stage are facing multifarious problems in modern times in their own habitats.

The question of tackling the problems of more backward communities has received the attention of various Commissions and Study teams connected with Tribal Welfare. The Scheduled Areas and Scheduled Tribes commission (1961) popularly known as the Dhebar Commission classified the Scheduled tribes of our country into the following four different groups. i) those that are living in the remotest corners and for that reason are almost in a primitive stage, ii) those in the 'Jhum' (shifting) Cultivation stage, iii) those who have taken to regular agriculture and iv) those who have already been assimilated. The study team on Tribal Development programmes (1969) (Shilu AO team) discerned marked imbalance development among the tribal communities and a large number of tribal communities continuing to be extremely backward, some of them still in the Primitive Food gathering stage. They reiterated the view of the Dhebar Commission that the 'Lowest Layer' needed the utmost consideration and should be made the special concern of the State Government. They suggested that State Governments and administrations of Union Territories should make an objective study of the extent to which each of the tribal communities living in their respective areas had benefited from the tribal development programmes and select on the basis of such a study the really backward communities need special attention. Further, separate schemes for imparting education and economic uplift should be framed and treated as Central Schemes, including special provision in the plan for the purpose.

At the time of review of tribal development programmes on the eve of the Firth Five Year Plan, it was recognized that Special Programmes for the extremely backward tribal groups known as primitive groups, should be taken up on the basis of proper identification on the lines suggested by the Shilu AO Team. It was also envisaged that the Programmes would be financed entirely by the Ministry of Tribal Affairs. The important guidelines for identification of Primitive Tribal Groups are:

1. Pre-agricultural level of technology.
2. Low level of literacy and,
3. Stagnant or diminishing population.

In Andhra Pradesh, Government of India have identified three communities Viz., Chenchus of Ranga Reddy, Kurnool, Mahaboobnagar, Nalgonda, Prakasham and Guntur districts in the year 1975-76, Kolams of Adilabad and Konda Reddis of East Godavari, West Godavari and Khammam districts in the year 1980. In the year 1982-83 Government of India have also recognized the following five communities as Primitive Tribal Groups.

1. Thoti, 2. Khond, 3. Porja, 5. Gadaba and 5. Konda Savara.

The Central Sector Schemes for the development of Primitive Tribal Groups are being implemented through Integrated Tribal Development Agencies (ITDAs) in Andhra Pradesh.
