

It was decided that four Staging Post will be constructed at Tirur, Potatang, Middle Strait and Kadamtala. In order to prevent the uncontrolled mixing of Jarawas with the non-tribal peoples the staff stationed in each Staging Post will pick the Jarawas from the non-tribal areas and from the roads, bring them to Staging Post and will send them back to their habitats. It was also decided that each Staging Post shall have a mini truck with cover, collapsible benches and communication equipment like VHF and hand set for establishing communication. If the Jarawa tribe is found to be suffering from any ailment, health coverage will be extended from the staging point instead bringing the tribe to the hospital for treatment and causing harm to him by way of getting new diseases of the non-tribal people. The teacher posted in the Staging Post will try to impart informal education to the tribes so that the tribe could understand and absorb the cultural shock of the civilized society.
