

10. 'JEEVAN SANDHYA' on Older persons. (Hindi, 23 mts).

The film 'Jeevan Sandhya' is based on problems of older persons and highlights the life of 60 years old Shakuntala Devi which is a protest against the rejection of the aged. This film focuses on the growing need for more old Age Homes in changing times in the aftermath of breaking of joint family system.

11. A film on "J.J. Act". This is a film based on Juvenile Justice Act, 1986. It depicts the plight of helpless and abandoned children and their exploitation by society. The film intends to inform about various provisions of Juvenile Justice Act with a view to motivate various allied systems particularly the police to act in rescue of child victims.

12. 'Ek Kadam' - This film is a documentation of various Juvenile Homes being run with Government aid. It is a candid depiction of bad conditions of various homes. This however, also attempts to inspire them for improving their condition by depicting some good homes being maintained for the children.

13. 'Samsaya or Samadhan' - The film is an attempt to bring forth various problems faced by street children and their possible solutions. The Childline service launched by the Government in 1999 is the key message of the film. The Childline Service needs adequate publicity to become successful and bring in desired results. This targets children in distress in particular, and the masses in general who can use Childline to protect a child in difficult situation.

15. 'SAHAYATA' on organizational assistance in the field of Social Defence (Hindi, 5mts)

This five-minute film on the subject "General grants in aid Programme for Assistance in the field of Social Defence" is based on artistic and indirect approach to communicate with the voluntary organizations. The film starts with a kind of dream, which attracts the viewers, and the subject keeps unfolding, giving different aspects and information about it. Visuals of different problems and the participation of common people and NGOs will give a unique character to the film. It is based on direct communication.

SECHEDULED CASTES DEVELOPMENT

S.No. 1. BEHATAR JEEVAN KI DORE (Educational Package). (Hindi, 15 mts).

Film is based on education related schemes for SCs. while one hand. This film gives information about development schemes offered by the Ministry of SJ&E, thus encouraging them to approach the authorities for availing the benefits. It also highlights Government's efforts in this direction.