Point No. 4:- The Hon'ble Supreme Court of India had given a ruled that the Judgments of courts are not be construed as a statutes. To interpret words, phrases and provisions of a statue it may become necessary for judges to embark on lengthy discussions but the discussion is meant to explain and not to define. judges interpret statutes, they do not interpret judgment. This is held in the case of Collector of Central Excise Kolkatta vs Alnoori tobacco products which is reported in (2004) 6 SCC 186 at P. 189

One another ruled given by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in the case of Ramesh Chand Doge vs. Rameshwari Bai that a judgment as is well known is not to be read as a statute. A judgment, it is trite, must be construed upon reading the same as a whole for the said purpose the attendant circumstances may also be taken into consideration. This is reported in 2005 (3) SCJ 1 at P.S.
