Sub: Prayer for Recognition of "KURMIS" as Scheduled and Honoured TRIBE of India.

Ref: No.F-333/1930 Public Govt. of India, Home Deptt. Letter-A Huitake Esquare, I.P.S. under Secretary Government of India, New Delhi-18th Nov, 1930.

Respected Sir,

With reference from the holy religious books like Kurmi Purana and soon it has become an established fact that these Adibasis and Tribal people are mainly from the remote rural areas and even in sound forest, hill areas. The geographical distribution and environmental conditions deeply has their socio-economic status, culture, influenced mode of living and behavior profoundly since ancestral period.

The Tribal Kurmis had migrated to Australia, in past years, they recognised their proto-Australoid origin. They travelled to India again and they became indigenous aboriginal group of Bengalee Regions, traditionally appearing to 'Hinduised-Jains-Castees' with the help of Alpan-Aryan-Dravidian Jataka, which is locally known as regarded as "Rahiboli" or "Kurmi-Caste", which I can support with any type of relevant anecdotes and documents.

In 1929-30, "the then Home Minister, a re-nowned I.P.S. in British regime enquired into the habits and habitat of Kurmis and after a close field work submitted a report to the contemporary viceroy as well as the Govt. of India, the evidence of which, e.g. the letter No. mentioned above will be attached to the main letter as credible testimonial of the matter.

As far the reference books on World heritage are concerned, Kurmis are also regarded the originator of Masquarede worldover. The Gotra "Kashyap" hails from the concept of Turtle, which is also called "Kurma" in Sanskrit (Refer to Matoya Purana and Kurma Purana accordingly).

They are also regarded and have been honoured as one of the most valarious powerful clans in India. Kurmis also proved themselves as an intermingling class from time to time and spreading from Alps to Africa, Irean to Srilanka, Egypt to Australia and Japan, too. Being Meditarranean in nature, they have also set their footsteps in Himalayan range. They are also regarded as the greatest hero of India. Except Bengal. They are also thriving in Assam, Manipur, Southern Himalayan Range, Jharkhand and others.

Therefore, it is an earnest request from the desk of the writer to honour the otherwise reverential and forgotten, neglected race and acknowledge them with deservable recognition which originally befit them.

The undersigned begs pardon to you for any errors and omissions in the writing.

With thanks & regards,

Yours faithfully,

Dr. Sudhandu Kumar Biswas
