

	3. The Andamanese shall be de-addicted of liquor and opium. 4. The population of the Andamanese shall be increased by launching the intensive health care management and "genetic engineering" wherever necessary.
8. Years ago, the Planning Commission and the Ministry of Home Affairs issued guidelines to the effect that, considering the diversity prevalent among the PTGs, each group should be considered as unique and a project report for its advancement based on its unique traits and features should be prepared. These guidelines have been reiterated time and again. The Government of India has been funding these projects/schemes on cent percent grant basis. How many project reports and for which PTGs have so far been prepared by the State Government?	Nil
9. Have the State Government sought funds from the Finance Commission as special grants for PTGs in the fields of health, malnutrition, education, all weather village roads and pucca covered Hats?	No
10. Earlier, the states were permitted to utilize part of Special Central Assistance for implementing schemes for primitive tribal groups, in addition to utilizing their own funds. It seems since 1998-99, the Government of India have been providing cent percent funds of Central sector scheme for the same purpose, in order to obviate the situation where the State Governments do not make sufficient allotment for the purpose from SCA. Is there any or are their any group(s) in your state which merit deletion from the list of PTGs, but which could nevertheless continue to be funded by the Government of India?	No
11. How many of the aforesaid completed project reports have been put into operation by the State Government? The following questions are relevant for each group in this context:	Does not arise in view of our reply to Point No.9