Of recent the Jarawas of Middle Andaman Island and South Andaman Island are coming out into the non-tribal areas in the day time. It has become to a considerable extent a matter of law and order also. Though the Police and District Administration are handling such situations, there is a complimentary roll to be played by the AAJVS particularly in respect of sending the gift articles etc.

In other words the Office of the AAJVS is also required to function more efficiently. The response to the situation has to be as quickly as that of Police / District Administration. The officers / officials have to be alert to discharge their task any time.

Since the AAJVS has got single Officer, another officer of the Tribal Welfare Department is required to be there available to handle the matters in the sudden / unscheduled absence of regular Executive Secretary. In this context Administration has already issued order No.108 dt.13.05.96 in which the Assistant Commissioner(TW) and Executive Secretary AAJVS are designated as a Link Officer to each other. The same thing will be continued. However, the linking has to be automatic and immediate.

As such in the event of unscheduled absence of the regular Executive Secretary AAJVS, Assistant Commissioner (TW) shall atonce start handling the AAJVS matters. The staff of AAJVS should immediately inform the Link Officer in the event of unscheduled absence from the office of the AAJVS for various reasons like health etc. The required men and material should available automatically to ensure the smooth functioning by the Link Officer.

The matter was discussed with Secretary(TW) on 19.3.99. Accordingly a revised order is placed opposite for perusal and approval.
